

The Institute for Regional Conservation

July Newsletter

IRC's Landmark Publication Now Available For Free

The complete manuscript of IRC's landmark publication "Rare Plants of South Florida : Their History, Conservation, and Restoration" is now available in a free electronic book. This critically acclaimed document, which includes data on all of the regionally extinct and imperiled plant species in South Florida, was originally published as a printed book in 2002. Not only is this manuscript now available

Afield celebrates...

80 Species To Be Added to Florida's Endangered Species List

Authors Steve Woodmansee, George Gann and Keith Bradley on the premiere issue of Orion Afield in 1997.

for free, but also all 1081 pages of the electronic pdf are fully searchable.

Learn More »

Invasive Plant Management Projects

IRC's field crews are keeping busy this summer with Invasive Plant Management projects spanning from Vero Beach to Big Pine Key. Our crews have been working at Oslo Riverfront Conservation Area, Captain Forster Hammock Preserve, FAU Pine Jog Environmental Center, John Pennekamp Coral Reef State Park and the National Key Deer Refuge.

See More Pictures »

BEFORE Nephrolepis falcata - fishtail fern

IRC's field crew members successfully remove Nephrolepis falcata (fishtail fern).

IRC Welcomes New NFYN Sponsors

We are pleased to announce that Green Isle Gardens (located in Groveland) and Plant Creations, Inc. (located in Homestead) are the newest nursery sponsors for Natives For Your Neighborhood. We would also like to thank Pro Native Consulting (located in Redland), Amelia's SmartyPlants (located in Lake Worth), and Indian Trails Native Nursery (located in Lake Worth) for renewing their sponsorship again this year.

We are thankful for the support from each of these wonderful native nurseries!

See the Full List of NFYN Sponsors »

The Institute for Regional Conservation 305-347-6547 | www.regionalconservation.org